

AURORA CAMPUS

Located in an attractive residential neighborhood on the southwest side of Aurora, the 40-acre main campus contains 29 instructional, administrative, and residence buildings. The distinctive, red-tiled roofs specified by Charles Eckhart in his donation for the original campus mark the major buildings (347 S. Gladstone Avenue, Aurora, IL 60506).

In addition to the main campus, Aurora University offers programs off campus for the convenience of students. Select undergraduate and graduate degree programs are available at the University Center at McHenry County College (222 Church St., Woodstock, Illinois 60098), and the education program offers graduate degrees at school districts throughout northern Illinois. Online programs are available through AU Online (online.aurora.edu (<https://online.aurora.edu/>)).
